Being in hospital is never easy. The longer you're there during recovery, the harder it is to look your best. Hospital Spoils is dedicated to making you look good and feel better during your stay in hospital.

Dr. Claire Mitchell, a Johannesburg-based surgeon, launched Hospital Spoils, a specialist mobile spa service, after discovering through first-hand experience with her patients that they felt better about themselves and had more effective recovery after being pampered.

Hospital Spoils staff are medically trained by Dr. Claire Mitchell herself.

Special attention is given to sterility and infection control, and each therapist is prepared to deal with certain medical conditions and to handle any possible emergencies that could occur.

If you have a friend in hospital, why not give something that is memorable and show you care. Flowers and confectionary are ordinary but an in-hospital pamper will make your friend feel special. Spoil yourself too and join them for a pamper while you are visiting.

Available to patients, visitors, doctors, nurses and admin staff at all hospitals and clinics in the north of JHB.

If the sister in charge is happy we will be there to spoil you.

We will even pamper you in the luxury of your own home.
